Soil Stewardship

This is Soil Stewardship Week in Georgia, an appropriate time to pause and give thanks to our creator for all our blessings which spring directly from the soil. Such blessings are beyond counting. They include not only the food we eat, the clothing we wear, the materials for our homes, but all the beauty of field and forest, garden and grounds.

Since time immemorial man has felt a strong tug at his heart toward the land and has longed to possess it and use it. This yearning for land and its abundance on this continent played a vital role in the exploration and development of all lands which comprise this nation—North and South as well as West.

As man has cleared land, broken it and tilled it, generally, he and the land have prospered together. Often, however, man has been guilty of exploiting the land. Wherever this has happened, sooner or later, society has suffered.

In recent years, men of America have become more and more aware of their responsibilities as stewards of the land. This has brought forth practical programs applying the knowledge and techniques of science to soil conservation. More recently, the equal need for water conservation has been recognized, too.

Soil and water conservation is the business of the Soil Conservation Service working in cooperation with other agricultural agencies. Together these organizations are doing a good job. They have no monopoly on this important business, however. Soil and water conservation is everybody's job. Every citizen, be he landowner or not, should recognize his vital stake in the conservation of this nation's soil and water resources.

You may feel that you can do nothing, or little or nothing yourself about saving soil and water. You can at least recognize the need for conservation of these vital necessities of life and give moral support to those who practice good stewardship of these gifts from God.

A fine flower show

When the ladies of Statesboro and Bulloch County decide to do something they really go all out.

The community has seen this twice recently. First when the Statesboro Woman's Club and the Statesboro Junior Woman's Club were hostesses to the state convention of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs. Then again on Wednesday night of last week when the Bulloch County Council of Federated Garden Clubs put on their annual Spring Flower Show.

We have paid high tribute to the ladies of the community for the great convention they had for the Women's Clubs.

Now we pay high tribute to the ladies of the several garden clubs of the city and county for the beautiful flower show they put on at the SHS gym.

The gym was lovely. Those in charge did a magnificent job in preparing the big building for the hundreds of flower exhibits and individual enterants. There were roses, iris, lilies, daffodils, strawberries, cabbage, horse radish and scores of other flowers and vegetables, with the menfolk excelling in the vegetable classification.

One seeing the interest in flowers and gardening as manifested at the Spring Flower Show can understand why the streets and homes and yards in Statesboro are so neat and well-kept.

It makes for a more livable community and we commend the ladies for their fine show.

A great day

It was a great day for the young fishermen of the Coastal Empire section as nearly 500 kids gathered on the banks of Robbins' Lake to compete in the Fourth Annual Fishing Rodeo sponsored by the Statesboro Recreation Department and Robbins Packing Company.

The Fishing Rodeo has grown from a strictly local affair until this year it included all the kids in the Coastal Empire. They were here from all around. They got a fine impression of Statesboro and it was not coincidental that they got fed a big batch of Robbins hot dogs after the fishing event was over.

It is events like this that focus attention on our fine community and we commend our Recreation Department and Robbins Packing Company upon their promotion.

For thirty-five years

Come Commencement time, 1959, S. H. (Bill) Sherman will retire from the teaching profession in the Bulloch County School System.

His retirement comes after thirty-five years as a teacher, nearly half of these years will have been spent as first superintendent and then as principal of the Statesboro High School, since it became a part of the Bulloch County School System.

A man does not teach thirty-five years with half of them in one school without leaving his imprint upon a community, and Bill Sherman will leave Statesboro with his mark here.

He had the happy faculty of being able to generate enthusiasm in his student body. He proved himself an able school administrator. Students leaving Statesboro High School to enter colleges have brought credit to the school here, its principal and its teachers.

A school is only as good as its teachers and its principal. And they are only as good as the community in which they teach. And there's none who can say that Statesboro does not rate high in all.

We commend Bill Sherman upon the completion of his thirty-five years of public service in one of the toughest assignments a man can have.

We wish for him and his happy retirement.

Cover to cover

We often have readers of the Herald to tell us they read our newspaper "from cover to cover."

We wonder how many businessmen realize the importance of this simple fact to their advertising.

It is hard to "lose" an ad or to bury an ad in a weekly newspaper like your Herald—the reader will read through "from cover to cover" and usually take notice of the advertisements, for they too are of local interest. Dollar for dollar, newspaper advertising is the merchant's best investment, for reaching his customers.

This Week's Meditation

LAWRENCE E. HOUSTON

Is shed for many? We must remember that Jesus spoke from the point of view of the Oriental.

DR. HARRY EMERSON FOSDICK tells of a native-born Syrian who, when receiving a friend into his home, says with extravagant hospitality: "This house is yours; you can burn it if you wish. My children are also at your disposal. I would sacrifice them all for your pleasure." This is how the Oriental speaks. His language is graphic and symbolic, not literal. Therefore, the disciples knew what Jesus meant. He was leaving behind a memorial of Himself. It was a symbol of strength, a concrete and dramatic way in which Christ could be remembered.

The Communion also represents the STRENGTH OF A PRESENCE. There was a great deal of difference between Saul of Tarsus and the Apostle Paul. The reason for the difference is that Paul changed friends. He said: "I live, yet not I, for Christ liveth in me." It was the strength of a presence that made the difference.

DR. LESLIE WEATHERHEAD tells of a friend who attended a Roman Catholic mass during which the priest asked for the literal presence of Christ's body in the wafer on the altar. After the service he met one of the worshippers who asked if he understood all the priest had said. The old man answered this way: "When I come to mass, sir, I cannot follow what they do up at the altar. I just kneel down and think of Jesus. I think of that last week with his friends and the last supper; how he knelt in agony at Gethsemane; how they arrested him and all night tortured him; and how he died... I get very near to Jesus then, sir, and when I go home I feel that he comes with me." What more can Communion mean?

What, then does this service have to offer to average folk who are faced with everyday problems in a time of never-ending tensions? It offers them the STRENGTH OF A SYMBOL. Nearly two thousand years ago Jesus and his friends sat around the table in an upper room in the city of Jerusalem, having their last meal together. When it was over, Jesus arose, took a piece of the unleavened bread, broke it, and gave it to them saying: "Take, eat, this is my body." Then he took the cup and passed it to them. "This is my blood of the New Testament," he said, "which

Herman Talmadge Reports From Washington

THERE HAVE BEEN headlines, articles, editorials and cartoons purporting to interpret the significance of my brief comment about the County Unit System.

My statement in reply to a question asked on an unheeded program speaks for itself. The question was: "Do you see any need in the future at any time in the next few years in view of the shift in population for making any alterations to the County Unit System?"

My reply was: "I think it is entirely possible that the Legislature might study that question. It's not only possible but even would perhaps be wise."

MY VIEWS on the County Unit System are so well known that they hardly need reiteration. I am for it absolutely and unreservedly. Without it Georgia's small counties would have no voice in our State Government and bloc voters and metropolitan political machines would dominate State affairs. Because the U. S. Supreme Court has ceased interpreting the law and has sought to establish itself as a super legislature, it should become all friends of the County Unit System to do some serious thinking about how to preserve it. When the last test case went before the U. S. Supreme Court last year it was upheld by a 5-4 decision and since that time the fifth member of the majority, Justice Burton, has retired and has been replaced by a liberal, Justice Stewart, who undoubtedly will cast his vote the other way in any future litigation. Justice Frankfurter, who also held with the majority, will probably retire this year or next.

IT IS NOT my purpose to attempt to make suggestions to either the Governor or the General Assembly in whose hands rests the responsibility for determining the provisions of Georgia's laws governing voting. However, since the question has been raised and now has become a matter of general concern, it is my considered opinion that it would be wise for an appropriate committee of the Legislature (1) to study such action as may be necessary best to protect the County Unit System from destruction at the hands of the Supreme Court and (2) to study whether, in light of the present serious threats to the system, a few of the most populous counties of the State should be granted a reasonable increase in unit votes to more nearly reflect current population trends. This would be in my opinion best preserve and protect the system.

Its preservation is something to which all of us must give our best thoughts. It would be shortsighted, indeed, for us to sit MEMO TO RUDY EVERETT: Congratulations for winning your "blue" ribbon at the Spring Flower Show last Wednesday. It was a beautiful rose. When they took your entry back with the ribbon they probably told you it was a "red" ribbon. But a lot of people are inclined to confuse blues and reds so, don't believe them if they told you it was red. I saw it and it was as "blue" as blue can be to a color blind gardener like you and me.

MEMO TO Mrs. R. T. Moore—Someone was allowing as how you are not so pert as you can be. I told them that it couldn't be that bad, for a lady like you who has made so many little girls and little boys happy with your Halloween costumes and your stage costumes and dance costumes just has to keep pert for the whole community. And if all the altering you have done in your day were laid end to end it would make a big dress. And if all the slip covers you had made in your time were put on one chair it would be a big one. It's people like you that help make communities like our fine ones in which to live. Hurry and get well.

THE BULLOCH COUNTY BANK is now two weeks into its half century of service in Statesboro and Bulloch County. We remember well its birth. We had worked for the Bulloch Mortgage Loan Company which was organized for the purpose of liquidating the as-

Wilson Memorial Home next to Milledgeville Primitive Baptist Church off the Fenbroke highway there at Joe Hodges' place. Scott was on the Statesboro Police force for a long time and then served as chief of police at Port. Scott's a man who wants to keep in touch and it'll do you and him both a great good for you to visit him.

WE PICKED up a little item from the Orlando Evening Star recently. We were reading Billy Glenn's column. It seems that George Shearouse was visiting in Orlando and went by to see Billy, who wrote:

"George Marion (Biddy) Shearouse, who used to conduct the band here, came down from Statesboro, Ga., the other day to visit his brother, J. B., and all the other Shearouses, plus friends. There are a lot of band musicians around here who remember when Mr. Shearouse, 'Biddy' to his friends, was the director of the Statesboro High School band. 'Biddy' likes to fish, and he's always good for a fish story. He likes piddling 'round in his flower garden too. Which makes him somebody to like in our book."

Mr. Leodel Coleman, Editor The Bulloch Herald Statesboro, Georgia Dear Mr. Coleman: The Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs wishes to express their appreciation for the sets of the closed Bank of Statesboro. Out of that organization grew the plans for opening a new bank to be called The Bulloch County Bank. We remember the faith that W. J. Rackley, the late Dr. R. J. Kennedy, Mr. Jim Mathews, Fred T. Lanier, all had in this community. Their faith has paid off. Today the Bulloch County Bank is one of the state's finest banks. It celebrated its twenty-fifth birthday in a unique way. Instead of the community giving it a birthday present, it gave the community a present.

The "Clock On The Corner" with the beautiful chimes, was the bank's present to the community, and expression of appreciation for the confidence which the people of Statesboro and Bulloch County have in it. We say "Congratulations" and wish many more happy birthdays and "thanks" for the birthday gift.

TULLY PENNINGTON's exhibit at the Spring Flower Show was labeled "Plants for the Birds" it was for garden lovers too.

It Seems to Me... max lockwood

SUMMERTIME is just around the corner and already it's time to open the swimmer's season. A Kids from all over the area are thinking in terms of when that last school bell will ring and they will be launched into another wonderful summer.

Summertime is a special time for young folk. All of us who are parents have a real understanding about what happens to a kid when this particular season of the year comes around.

For a long time now a good many folks have been entering into a partnership with us at the Recreation Department. These folks know that there are a lot of youngsters who won't be able to take advantage of being a part of our swimming program for their parents just don't have the money. They might earn their own way but it's pretty hard these days for youngsters to find little jobs like they used to when you and I were kids. We've had more kids than we do jobs.

KEEPING THIS thought in mind we have over the years given kids who needed to earn their own swimming pool money the opportunity to work in the park areas to earn enough money to pay for a season pass. They do odd jobs at one of the Centers and are paid on a basis of 50 cents per hour. They work ten hours to earn their money. The partnership plan is a great one for the child involved, for the person who makes it possible and for the recreation program. The plan is a very special one and I suppose about the only one of its kind in the country. We know it is a success for this year the plan will be eight years old.

Many of you who read this column, of course, are familiar with this three-way-partnership plan. It is a simple one but most effective and we know that it pays real dividends.

FOR THOSE of you who are interested, it works this way. First you feel that you want to be a part of the plan and then you make out a check for five dollars to the Recreation Department. For each five dollars we receive we allow a child to work to earn a pass. The child does not know that you are paying for it, he just feels that he is working for the "Center." Not that he feels that he is earning his way but that actually he is helping out the "Center" by doing his share.

It isn't any problem for us to find the kids for this is the sort of things that kids just know about. We have a long waiting list of those who have applied for work.

EVERY CITIZEN can do his and her part to change the attitude of the public toward mental illness. It, doubtless, is always true that people react in the same manner, to almost anything, if the stimulus is totally ignorant. There was a time that the disease, tuberculosis caused the patients to suffer humiliation as well as physical pain because of the ignorance. Not too many years ago sufferers of cancer were also considered with "raised eyebrows." So today it is our responsibility to help people understand that mental illness is like any other sickness. Its treatment and care is different, but it is an illness.

IN THE FUTURE, the people of Bulloch County can look forward to stamping out much of mental illness by catching the symptoms in children and treating them right here. There seems to be a new day dawning in our state for many who have been heartick over their mentally sick.

HAPPY GO LUCKY CLUB ENTERTAINED

The Happy Go Lucky Club was entertained on Monday night with a tummy party. Monday night was a very successful one for the club. For our judges we had with us Gil Cope Jr., Mary Alice Chaney, and Charlie Simmons. It was quite a task to pick out the tuckiest for the girls really went all out to become tacky for the evening.

Billie Alderman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Alderman, was picked for the final winner. After the contest everyone present enjoyed hot dogs and Coke.

PIROUETTE DANCE FRIDAY NIGHT

The Piroquette Dance Club had their spring dance Friday night, April 17, at Forest Heights Country Club.

Dr. Helen Deal was the general chairman of the committee for decorations. In the entrance, a lovely arrangement of pink roses and white stock were used. Centering the room in the ball room was a huge spray of pyroantha. Mrs. William Smith was chairman of refreshments and the dancers were happily surprised when refreshments meant a complete breakfast of these items, eggs, sausage, hot biscuit and steaming coffee.

An orchestra from Dublin furnished music for the forty-nine couples present.

Mrs. Gerald Groover was chairman of the dance cards.

SHUFORD WALL HONORED ON ELEVENTH BIRTHDAY

Shuford Wall was honored on his eleventh birthday at the party Saturday, April 18, at his mother's home. His friends on Northside to come and help celebrate at his home on Lake View Road.

Soon after the guests assembled they hastened to the Mattie Lively playground for softball games. Then came the rain and they scurried home where they enjoyed old time games like "musical chairs". They played records and danced. Tied to their ankles were balloons which they succeeded in bursting that was the general idea. They were given big pipe balloons that really played Scottish airs.

MISS NORTHINGTON IS BRIDE OF JOHN ROBERT FRANKLIN

Miss Cora Jane Northington and John Robert Franklin were married Saturday morning, April 18, at 11:30 o'clock in the Tenth Baptist Church by the Rev. Marvin V. Whiting of the Emory University School of Theology, cousin of the groom.

Mrs. Franklin is the daughter of Mrs. Robert Percy Northington Sr. of Tennesse, Mr. Franklin, the son of Mr. Herbert Franklin of Port, is located at Fort Valley.

Wedding music was presented by Mrs. N. M. Jordan as the guests arrived and accompanied the bride and groom.

Following the ceremony, Mrs. Northington entertained at a wedding breakfast at a "Bridal House" which is located in the center of a lovely garden.

Harvey Sherwin, it made a picturesque setting for the nuptial breakfast. The towering wedding cake, embossed in white, was nestled in triple ruffles of shirred tulle. The cake was adorned with many sprays of valley lilies, pastel roses, entwined with pale green tulle of vine and leafy foliage. It was cut and served from the table.

The breakfast table was centered with an exquisite arrangement of snapdragons, roses and tulips which extended in great length down the table.

After a wedding trip to Quebec the bride and groom will reside at 112 Miller Street, Fort Valley.

Attending the wedding from Statesboro and Port were Mrs. Herbert Franklin, Mr. R. J. Kennedy Sr., Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Kennedy Jr., Mrs. Louis Ellis, Mrs. Henry Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Franklin, Jimmy Franklin and Miss Jessie Lou Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Parrish, and Dr. J. E. McCran of Atlanta.

What Soil Stewardship means to me

By E. T. (RED) MULLIS

Soil Stewardship may mean different things to different people, but to me Soil Stewardship means a way of life. This may sound far fetched at first glance, but let's examine it more closely.

First of all, Soil Stewardship has made possible a way of life for us all. We owe our fathers and grandfathers a debt of gratitude for their foresight in caring for our precious heritage—our soil. Had they not been good stewards of the soil, we might not be enjoying the bountiful blessings of the soil today—plenty of food, clothing and shelter. So Soil Stewardship is a way of life because it makes life possible.

Secondly, Soil Stewardship is a way of life because we must all practice it if we are to continue enjoying these bountiful blessings which come from the soil. As Mr. Tom C. Scott, president of the Georgia Association of Soil Conservation District Supervisors, recently said: "Half the people of the earth will go to be hungry tonight." We, in this county, cannot grasp the significance of that statement, because we have plenty to eat at all times. But think of the millions of Chinese, Indians, Koreans, and other Asiatics who suffer hunger pangs continually. We shrug it

Soil Conservation program is explained by state chairman

SOIL CONSERVATION

The purpose, objective and organizational structure of the State Soil Conservation program are explained below by J. L. Cullis Jr., Superior, chairman of the State Soil Conservation committee. Next week, (May 3-10) in cooperation with the State Association of District Supervisors, the committee is sponsoring observance of Soil Stewardship Week.

Georgia has 27 Soil Conservation districts and each is a subdivision of state government organized by the people under the State Soil Conservation District Law passed by the Georgia Legislature in 1937. This law is administered in Georgia by the State Soil Conservation committee.

There are 216 district supervisors in Georgia's 27 Soil Conservation districts. In each district one supervisor is elected by the people and two are appointed by the state committee. These supervisors work without salary because they realize the importance of soil and water conservation to all people. The purpose of a Soil Conservation district is to help landowners conserve, reserve and improve soil and water resources for present and future generations. Leadership and direction of all soil and water conservation matters within a district are the responsibility of the Soil Conservation Board of District Supervisors.

In fulfilling its purpose, the Soil Conservation district cooperates with all agricultural agencies and interested commercial concerns in giving assistance to farmers. The Soil Conservation Service renders a special service to Soil Conservation districts by furnishing full time technical assistance to districts for the purpose of rendering scientific assistance in getting soil conservation practices applied on the land. The objective of soil conservation is to use each acre in the district according to its capability and treat it in accordance with its needs for protection and improvement.

MANY SERMONS STRESS SOIL STEWARDSHIP. Christian ministers in Georgia play an important role in making Georgia citizens aware of their responsibilities as stewards of the soil. E. H. Thomas, soil conservation specialist for the Agricultural Extension Service, University of Georgia college of Agriculture, said today by preaching sermons on man's share in God's creation as tillers and conservers of the soil, ministers aid greatly the technical work done by agricultural engineers and agronomists. From such sermons men learn the importance of the soil to life and recognize their roles in God's plan as stewards of God-given resources such as soil and water.

Again this year, hundreds of Georgia ministers will be preaching such sermons during observance of Soil Stewardship Week, May 3-10, Thomas said. "This, of course, is not an unusual or unnatural thing for ministers to do," he continued. "Sermons traditionally are based on scripture and the Bible is filled with passages on man's relationship to soil, water and the growth of plants. Jesus, himself lived close to the soil and he often spoke of the soil, seed, water, planting and harvest as essential elements of life."

Thomas added that as ministers begin to prepare their soil stewardship sermons they will find many scriptural passages suitable for texts. These range from the story of The Garden of Eden (Gen. 2-8) to the parables of Jesus in the Gospels of Matthew, Luke, Mark and John.

The Rev. M. W. Whittemore of Forsyth is chaplain of the Georgia Association of Soil Conservation District Supervisors. In a letter to his fellow ministers, calling their attention to Soil Stewardship Week, May 3-10, the Rev. Mr. Whittemore says: "Healthy souls are dependent upon a healthy concern for all God's creation. All that belongs to my Father is my concern, and I must defend it with the best that I have... therefore, it must be ever before us as business and responsibility to care for the soil."

TRY! AND SEE WHY IT'S THE FASTEST-GROWING U.S. CAR

THE LARK BY STUDEBAKER

Compare this wonderful new kind of car to any other, and you'll know why we have the fastest rising sales curve in the industry. The Lark is shorter outside, yet seats six people comfortably. It costs less to buy, less to operate—runs miles and miles on little, low-cost regular gas. To wit: in the Mobilgas Economy Run, The Lark V-8 outscored all V-8's with an astonishing 22.28 miles per gallon average. And, of course, the "6" does better. The Lark affords the best of everything you need, at savings you can't afford to miss. See it today.

Discussing the use of nitrogen in a well-rounded fertility program, he explained that it must be kept in balance with other plant foods, especially phosphorus. Also, the nitrogen must be supplied to growing crops when they need it during the growing season.

Nitrogen has many functions in the plant, he continued. It produces rapid growth, gives dark green color, increases yield of seed and fruit, and improves the quality of leaf and forage crops. In addition, nitrogen increases the protein content of food and feed crops and speeds up the breakdown of straw and other crop residues in the soil. Crops that do not get sufficient nitrogen will make stunted growth and have light green or yellowish leaves and produce shrunken grain and low yields.

Thomas added that as ministers begin to prepare their soil stewardship sermons they will find many scriptural passages suitable for texts. These range from the story of The Garden of Eden (Gen. 2-8) to the parables of Jesus in the Gospels of Matthew, Luke, Mark and John.

Proclamation

SOIL STEWARDSHIP WEEK

BY THE GOVERNOR:
WHEREAS: Soil is one of our most important natural resources, producing foods, fibers and innumerable products necessary to life and happiness; and
WHEREAS: Good soil is the first requisite for successful farming and it is essential that soil conservation be emphasized and practiced if we are to continue to maintain and improve good land; and
WHEREAS: We realize the need of cooperation in movements to improve and protect our farm land and to support the program of the State Soil Conservation Committee and other groups engaged in this activity; now

THEREFORE, I, S. Ernest Vandiver, Governor of Georgia, do hereby proclaim May 3-10, 1959 as SOIL STEWARDSHIP WEEK in Georgia and urge our citizens to cooperate in every possible way to aid this worthy movement which means so much to all our people.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Seal of the Executive Department to be affixed. This 6th day of March, 1959.

W.M.U. Rally held at First Baptist Church April 16
The Statesboro District W.M.U. held its annual rally at the First Baptist Church with Mrs. Donald Scarborough presiding on Thursday, April 16.
The theme of the meeting was "Sing His Praise." The opening song was "I Will Sing the Wondrous Story."
The Rev. J. Robert Smith, host pastor, brought the devotional thoughts, "A New Song." Mrs. W. A. Duncan Jr. sang "Forgive" as a special. The song service was led by Mrs. Sue Proctor, associational music director.
Mrs. Paul Carroll of the First Baptist Church, extended the welcome and the response. A group of Sunbeams from Calvary Baptist Church presented a skit, "A Nickel to Spend." Vicki Dwinell, A. GA Queen, gave a portion of her work before a reviewing council.

The Honors of His Name through Young Women's Auxiliary were given in testimony by Amelia Brown and Roslin Hall of the First Baptist Church as they reported on the YWA house party.
A poster, Parade of Coming Events for WMS, was brought by Mrs. Wendell Torrance of Elmer, followed by reports of the associational promotion chairman.
As a closing meditation, Mrs. S. E. Warley gave the poem, "Obedience."
The host church served a lunch in the social hall.

Rockwell Corporation wins National Management Award

PITTSBURGH, Pa. — For the ninth consecutive year, Rockwell Manufacturing Company has received an award for "Excellence in Management" from the American Institute of Management.

The award is presented annually to several hundred top-rated companies on the basis of a systematic, 10-point comparative study of the "best" managements in the United States, Canada, and—for the first time—Europe.

The ten factors employed in judging a management include: Economic Function, Corporate Structure, Health and Earnings, Service to Stockholders, Director Analysis, Research and Development, Fiscal Policies, Production Efficiency, Sales and Marketing, and Executive Evaluation.

The institute is a non-profit research and educational organization devoted to the study and improvement of corporate organization and management. Headquarters are in New York, N. Y.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank the doctors and staff of the Bulloch County Hospital for the care given me during my recent stay in the hospital, and we want to say how deeply we appreciate the many flowers, cards and gifts sent me, and for the prayers and concern of the pastors of the churches who visited me. All these kindnesses will be remembered for a long, long time.

First grade orientation program begins

According to a statement made by Mr. H. P. Womack, County School Superintendent, the "First Grade Orientation Program" began in Bulloch County this week. All first graders who are six years old or older before December 31, 1959, are eligible to enter school for the first time in September this year. All parents are urged to go with their child to school on "Orientation Day," when the instructional supervisor, Miss Leona Newton, the visiting teacher, Miss Maude White, and the county health nurse, Mrs. Thelma Aaron, will talk to parents about the school program, the services you may expect for your child and the responsibility of you and your child to the school.

Beginning at 9:00 o'clock on each day the following schedule will be followed:

Porter School, Thursday, May 7.

Midgarden School, Friday, May 8.

Register School, Monday, May 11.

Neville School, Tuesday, May 12.

Sallie Zetterover School Wednesday, May 13.

Brooklet School, Thursday, May 14.

Silston School, Friday, May 15.

Little Lively School, Thursday, May 28.

Therrell Pittman School will have registration day on Thursday afternoon, May 14, at 2:30 o'clock. Wednesday, May 27 will be the last day of this school term. Elementary children will get report cards on the last day.

The first post-planning day for all Bulloch County teachers will be on Thursday, May 28, and the last day on Tuesday, June 2. Each high school child will call for his report card at the school on Friday, May 29, but all report cards not called for by Tuesday, June 2, will be mailed to the child by the principal of the school.

Mulch farming demonstration set for May 11

A demonstration of "mulch farming" will be held at Frank Proctor's farm about 5 miles east of Statesboro on May 11, at 2:30 p. m. Everyone interested in saving time and money on land preparation should try to be there.

Mr. Proctor has demonstrated that one can increase yields by minimum tillage methods. In addition to soybeans planted behind combined grain, he is also planting corn without much land preparation.

Mr. J. T. McAlister, "Father of 'mulch farming,'" will conduct the demonstration.

In addition to mulch farming, Mr. Proctor has a new, early maturing, oil which many will be interested in seeing. It is fully two weeks earlier than our other varieties. It's name also sounds good—"Moregrain."
